General Accounting Office, 2001 OCLC Number: (OCoLC)54515504 Subject: Export controls -- Government policy -- United States. Excerpt: . . . Further, we recommend that the Secretary of State direct the Office of Defense Trade Controls to establish a mechanism to track license applications through each phase of the process to ensure timeliness goals are met and applications are not lost or delayed. To prevent imbedding an inefficient process into the State Departments planned electronic business processing system, we recommend that the Secretary of State ensure the steps outlined above are taken before proceeding with a new electronic processing system. The State Department should coordinate its efforts with the Defense Department because the Defense Department is also developing a new electronic system and receives the majority of license application referrals. In commenting on our draft report, the State Department said that certain Agency Comments of our findings appear to be premised on conjecture and a failure to comprehend how foreign policy provides the overall context for munitions and Our Evaluation export controls and that other findings appear to be exaggerated and reflect out-of-context presentations. Also, the Department stated that our presentation of data was inflammatory and trivialized the licensing officers role in referring license applications for review. Further, our characterization of its plans to enhance automation was totally inaccurate. The Department appears to have missed the point that our report, as stated in our scope and methodology, is primarily concerned with the procedures in place to ensure that license applications flow smoothly through the review process and not with the time spent in substantive license application reviews. In our review of State Department data, we took extreme care not...
